A Grace-Filled Gathering of Our JMJ Pensioner Sisters

Dear Sisters,

With hearts full of gratitude to God, we wish to share the joyful and grace-filled gathering of our JMJ Pensioner Sisters, lovingly organized at the Provincialate by Sr. Pauline Nusi, Provincial, and her Council. The gathering was not only for the completion of the Life Certificate process but also a sacred moment of communion, remembrance, and thanksgiving for the gift of our senior Sisters.

In total, 18 pensioner Sisters belong to the Province, and 15 Sisters were able to be present for this meaningful gathering, while Sr. Marhina, Sr. Showrilu Allam, and Sr. Thecla were unable to attend and were lovingly remembered in our prayers. From the moment of arrival, the Sisters experienced genuine warmth, care, and joyful fraternity — a beautiful reminder that our vocation continues to unite us in love beyond years and responsibilities.

The day reflected God's providence through the thoughtful hospitality offered by the Provincial Council. The sharing of refreshments became more than a meal; it was a sign of communion, gratitude, and the joy of belonging to one family in Christ. A delightful high coffee with rich snacks expressed the loving concern and appreciation of the Provincial Team.

We thank God for Miss Amulya, whose generous assistance helped complete the Life Certificate formalities smoothly. Afterwards, the Sisters gathered in the Chapel, the heart of our community — for a deeply meaningful prayer service animated by Sr. Showrilu and Sr. Nirmala, the Provincial Councillors. Through symbolic offerings placed before the Lord, each Sister prayerfully entrusted her life, service, sacrifices, and memories into God's loving hands. The hymns and bhajans sung by the pensioner Sisters echoed their lifelong faithfulness and deep trust in God.

The joyful cultural programme presented by the Aspirants reminded everyone that our charism continues to live on in younger hearts. Moments of simple games and shared laughter, encouraged by Sr. Kamala, reflected the Gospel joy that springs from grateful hearts.

In a touching gesture of appreciation, the Provincial Council honoured the pensioner Sisters with a token of love in cash and kind, acknowledging their years of hidden sacrifices and faithful service in the vineyard of the Lord. The day concluded with a sumptuous lunch, shared in a spirit of unity and thanksgiving.

With thankful hearts, the Sisters expressed deep appreciation to the Provincial Council and the Jyothinilayam Community, before returning joyfully to their respective communities. Let us continue to thank God for the witness of our senior Sisters, whose lives inspire us to remain faithful in our vocation and generous in our love for God and one another.
Thank you.

A CELEBRATION OF GRACE: SPIRITUAL JOY IN HONOUR OF VENERABLE MARY GLOWREY

The celebration held on February 11, 2026, at St. Joseph's Convent in Guntur was not merely an event it was a sacred encounter of faith, gratitude, and cultural harmony. It commemorated the solemn declaration by Pope Leo XIV on November 21, 2025, recognizing Dr.. Mary Glowrey as Venerable for her heroic virtues. The occasion radiated spiritual fervour and heartfelt joy, uniting the faithful in thanksgiving for a life poured out in loving service to India.

A Procession of Faith and Cultural Splendour

The program commenced with a grand and reverent procession. Participants carried flags bearing the serene image of Venerable Mary Glowrey, moving in rhythmic Indian steps amid showers of flowers. The atmosphere echoed with hymns sung in English and Telugu, their melodies rising heavenward like incense. Choir members, through synchronized movements and rhythmic clapping, created a vibrant harmony, an artistic expression reminiscent of angelic praise.

This beautiful fusion of Indian cultural elements with Catholic liturgical solemnity symbolized the very spirit of Mary Glowrey's mission: faith incarnated in service; Gospel love expressed in local culture.

The Eucharistic Celebration: A Moment of Grace

The highlight of the gathering was the solemn Eucharistic Mass presided over by Archbishop Udumala Bala of Visakhapatnam, together with three other bishops. Priests, JMJ Sisters, and thousands of faithful assembled as one body in Christ, offering gratitude for the 37 years of tireless medical and missionary service rendered by Mary Glowrey in India.

The liturgy stirred deep spiritual emotion. Hymns, prayers invoking her intercession, and homilies reflecting Christ's compassion for the suffering touched hearts profoundly. As the Gospel proclaimed the Lord of the harvest, many were reminded of Glowrey's courageous decision to leave a flourishing medical career in Australia to serve the poorest in India. Her life mirrored Christ's healing mercy and radical surrender.

Prayers for her beatification and renewed commitment to the JMJ charism deepened the spiritual intensity. A grace-filled unity enveloped the congregation, as though heaven and earth briefly embraced.

Cultural Tribute: Faith Expressed Through Art

Following the Mass, the celebration unfolded into a vibrant cultural tribute. Students and community members presented dance dramas and skits depicting her journey—from Australia to the mission hospitals of Guntur. Classical Bharatanatyam gestures, colorful costumes, and symbolic props such as medical instruments and miniature hospital models vividly portrayed her healing ministry.

These performances were not mere artistic displays; they were acts of devotion. Each movement and gesture testified to her compassion, resilience, and unwavering trust in God. The release of books on her autobiography added intellectual and spiritual depth to the occasion, while the traditional felicitation of her family members reflected the warmth and communal spirit characteristic of Indian Catholic celebrations. More than 7,000 participants shared in this moment of collective pride and devotion. The gathering transcended formality and became a living testimony of hope.

A Legacy That Ignites Hearts

The celebration left hearts ablaze with renewed purpose. Venerable Mary Glowrey's words— "I have never regretted having given myself to God", resounded like a personal invitation to each soul present.

Her life stands as a radiant bridge between continents and cultures, between faith and action, between prayer and service. For many, the event strengthened cultural identity and spiritual resolve. Through costumes, songs, prayers, and shared fellowship, participants rediscovered that holiness is not distant, it is lived in compassionate service.

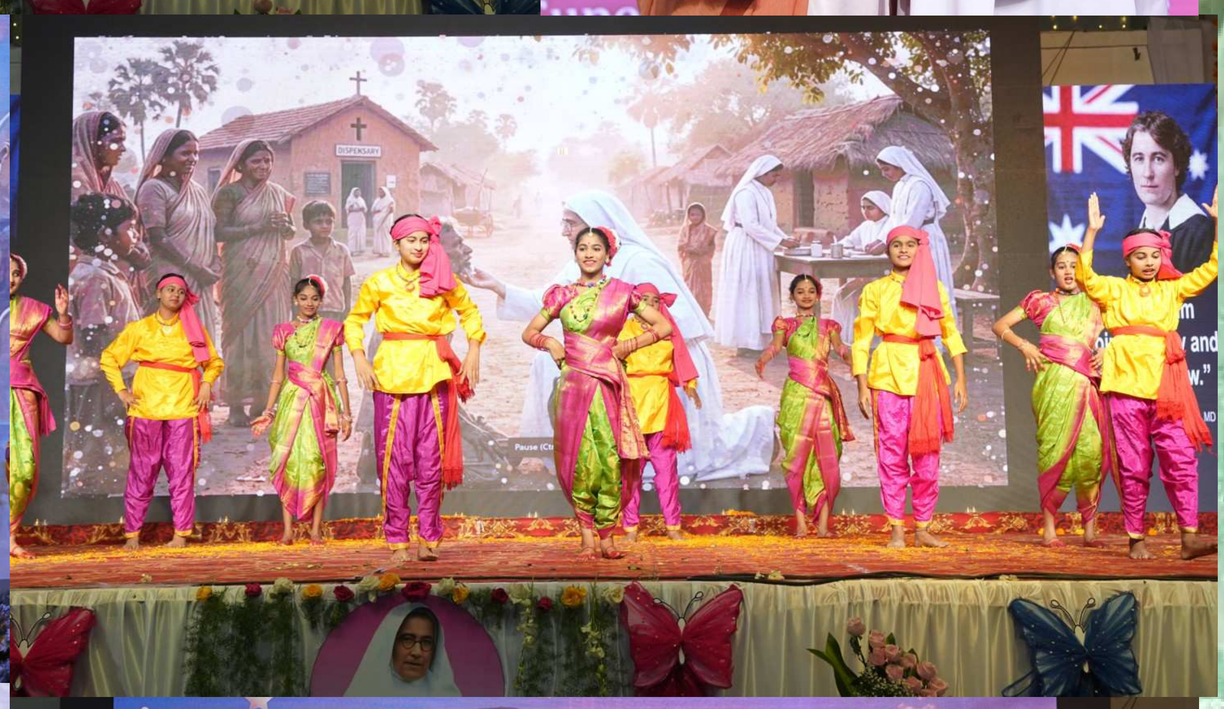

The experience was more than exhilarating; it was transformative. It inspired resilience, awakened purpose-driven dreams, and rekindled a desire to serve with selfless love. In honouring her, the faithful did not merely celebrate a venerable figure of the past—they embraced a mission for the future. Thus, the day became a sacred memory: a harmony of liturgy and culture, reverence and joy, gratitude and hope. In celebrating Venerable Mary Glowrey, the community encountered anew the beauty of a life wholly given to God—and found within themselves the courage to do the same.

A Journey of Listening, Communion, and Discernment

Synodality, the call to walk together, has opened my heart to a deeper understanding of what it means to live in communion with others. It invites me to widen the tent of my heart, to create space for everyone, rich and poor, young and old, and to recognize that each person has a voice that deserves to be heard. This journey of walking together is not always easy, but it is deeply enriching, as it calls me to practice accompaniment, sincere dialogue, and constant discernment.

In this process, I have come to appreciate the spirituality of listening in a new and meaningful way. I realized that listening is not merely hearing words, but an attentive openness to the other and to God. It is about attuning myself to the quiet voice of the Spirit that often speaks in silence. True listening is not passive; it is a healing and transforming act rooted in love, empathy, and humility. It helps me move from self-centeredness to a deeper awareness of others.

As I continued reflecting, I was drawn into the deeper meaning of the Eucharist, forgiveness, and reconciliation. These experiences invite me to rediscover healing, inner freedom, and peace of heart. I have understood that forgiveness lightens my burdens and opens the way to deeper communion, with God, with others, and within myself. It is through this process that I experience true spiritual renewal.

Most importantly, this journey has inspired me to “be different” in today’s fractured world. I am called to walk together, to listen deeply, and to recognize that God continues to speak through many voices around me. This awareness challenges me to live with greater compassion, openness, and responsibility.

In conclusion, synodality has helped me understand that life is not meant to be lived in isolation, but in communion. Through listening, discernment, and shared journeying, I am invited to grow into a more loving, understanding, and Christ-centered person.

"Celebrating a Life that Continues to Heal"

The celebration of Venerable Mary Glowrey on 15th February 2026, joyfully observed across all our communities, blossomed into a sacred and grace-filled experience, an occasion where memory became mission and inspiration gently stirred every heart. It was not merely a remembrance, but a prayerful reliving of her life through acts of love, service, and joyful communion.

The day dawned at the Eucharistic table, where the faithful gathered as one in Christ. In the quiet depth of prayer and the mystery of the Holy Eucharist, her life of self-giving love was offered in thanksgiving. Like a lamp still burning, her witness continued to illumine hearts, drawing all closer to the Lord and inviting them to encounter Him in the poor, the suffering, and the forgotten.

Her life story, unfolding like a gentle pilgrimage of grace, revealed a soul deeply rooted in God and wholly given to others. Her silent yet powerful witness awakened a longing within many, to serve with humility, to give without counting the cost, and to become channels of God's tender compassion.

This spirit found expression in the medical camps organized in the parishes, where every caring touch became a sign of healing and hope. The sick were comforted, the weary strengthened, and in simple acts of love, her mission seemed to live on.

Moments of fellowship deepened the celebration as sweets were shared, prayer cards distributed, and food offered to all who gathered. In these simple gestures, joy blossomed, bonds were strengthened, and a sense of belonging embraced everyone, revealing that love, when shared, becomes a living presence.

Thus, the celebration became a sacred echo of her life, a quiet call resounding in every heart to love more deeply, to serve more generously, and to heal more tenderly. Carrying this gentle fire of compassion, the communities move forward renewed in faith, becoming living signs of God's healing and hope in today's world.

With hearts full of gratitude, we lovingly acknowledge and appreciate all the Sisters across the communities for their wholehearted and active participation, both direct and indirect. My Experience as a Resource Person – Synodal Spirituality

Being a resource person for sessions on synodal spirituality has been, for me, not merely a responsibility, but a sacred journey of grace.I began each session with the thought that I had come to give. But gently, and almost unexpectedly, I discovered that I was receiving far more than I was offering. The sisters, with their simplicity, sincerity, and depth, became my teachers. Their lived experiences, quiet struggles, and faith-filled sharing transformed every session into a holy encounter.

I vividly remember how, in many groups, silence filled the room at the beginning, hesitant hearts, unsure voices. But as moments of prayer deepened, as circles of sharing unfolded, something beautiful began to happen. Hearts opened. Faces softened. Voices found courage. And slowly, the space was filled not just with words, but with trust.

In those sacred moments, I realized:
It is not eloquence that touches hearts, but authenticity.
It is not speaking more, but listening deeply that builds communion.
It is not teaching alone, but walking together that creates transformation.

There were also moments of challenge, times when participation was low, when opinions differed, when time felt insufficient. Yet, even in those moments, I sensed the gentle movement of the Holy Spirit, teaching me patience, shaping me in humility, and inviting me to trust the process.

One of the most profound realizations for me was this:
Synodal spirituality cannot be explained fully in words, it must be experienced. And during those sessions, I witnessed it come alive. In every attentive listening, in every respectful dialogue, in every silent prayer of discernment, the Spirit was present, quietly weaving unity among us. I no longer saw myself as someone standing before the group, but as one walking among them, listening, learning, discerning together. The classroom was no longer just a place of instruction; it became a sacred space of encounter, a living experience of journeying together as Church. Today, I carry a deep sense of gratitude. Gratitude for the sisters who trusted, who shared, who journeyed with open hearts. Gratitude for the Spirit who guided us in unseen ways. And I feel gently reminded: We are not called to walk ahead or behind, but to walk together. May each of us continue this synodal journey, with listening hearts, open minds, and a deep trust that the Spirit is always leading us forward.

A Journey of Grace and Renewal

As I began my retreat, my heart and mind were filled with deep gratitude to God for the gift of this sacred time and for blessing me with a Spirit-filled preacher who gently guided me along this spiritual journey. Each day unfolded with meaningful themes, profound moments of adoration, and enriching guidance that illuminated how I am called to live my life more faithfully.

A beautiful practice during the retreat was the daily Scripture reading from 8:00 to 8:30 p.m., thoughtfully given to prepare our hearts for the following day. These moments of quiet reflection became a source of strength and inner renewal.

Through this retreat, I learned to grow in gratitude—towards God and towards society. I discovered the beauty of contemplative prayer, resting in the presence of the Lord with a listening heart. The preacher vividly shared God's boundless mercy through powerful biblical examples—David, the Prodigal Son, and Mary Magdalene—reminding me that God's love restores, forgives, and makes all things new.

One of the most profound graces I received was the strength to forgive those who have hurt me. I felt invited to let go, to heal, and to love more freely. I also realized the importance of spending more time with the Lord in prayer, especially interceding for my congregation, province, community, and the Church throughout the world.

The retreat deepened my understanding of God's call and my response to it. It helped me reflect more seriously on living my vows and embracing religious life with sincerity, commitment, and joy within the community.

Overall, the Scripture passages, reflections, and guidance throughout the retreat were deeply enriching and transformative. This experience has truly renewed my spirit and strengthened my desire to live more faithfully in God's love.

This retreat was not just a time of prayer—
it was a gentle encounter with God's healing, forgiving, and transforming grace.
